Choose vitrified clay pipe... your guarantee against pollution.

No matter how hard you study the problem of choosing sewer pipe, the best reason for choosing vitrified clay pipe is that it lasts. It has been in use in sewer systems for thousands of years. And, some of those systems are still in use today.

No one has been able to improve on the original material. It is acid proof. It will not oval or collapse under the weight of the earth above it. It won't change its shape and restrict sewage flow. And, clay pipe joints set the industry's standard for tightness. Vitrified clay is the one sewer pipe, once properly installed, that never has to be replaced. Ever.

FROM A PROUD PAST...

Robert C. Edwards President

Man's capability to produce vast quantities of new knowledge at such a rapid pace has become the accent of this century, particularly the past decade.

Our reservoir of information has thus become more than an instrument for perpetuating our culture. It has come to be a prime index of our greatness, functioning not only as a source of our strength, but as a measure of our fitness to survive and grow as a State and Nation.

Under the dynamic leadership of President Robert C. Edwards, Clemson University is meeting, head-on, the demands for creating new knowledge by concentrating the full measure of its teaching, research, and public service activities into many highly delimited areas of effort.

Relying heavily on the rich legacy of 78 years of meaningful service to the State and Nation, and more especially the achievements of the past decade, the University is gearing its programs of academic endeavor and physical expansion to solve the mysteries and unconquered horizons of the future.

At the doorway of the 70's, a brief digression to review Clemson's record during the 60's will further solidify the point that achievements of the present and aspirations for the future are mutually dependent on a productive past.

Significant events of the past decade were the peaceful accomplishment of racial integration (1963); the official change of the institution's name to Clemson University (1964); enrichment and expansion of academic programs; and the construction of $32 million in new and improved buildings and facilities.

The 60's were also the years in which . . .

• A tremendous 73 per cent surge in enrollment gave the University a total student body of more than 7,000 by the end of the decade as compared with 4,048 students in 1960-61.

• The number of main campus faculty increased from 326 to 646, with 59 per cent holding terminal degrees as compared with 33 per cent when the decade began.

• The University's total number of major academic units doubled with the addition of six new colleges and schools.

• Undergraduate courses increased from 706 to 1,221; graduate courses from 480 to 1,219.

• Thirteen new undergraduate curricula were initiated, which at the beginning of the 1969-70 academic year accounted for 23 per cent of the total undergraduate enrollment.

• Graduate education, in its infancy in 1960 with 25 Master's degree programs and four Ph.D. programs, matured into a prestigious academic unit which boasted 45 Master's programs and 23 Ph.D. programs in 1969-70.

to an exciting future

• Two-year college parallel programs for freshman and sophomore years were made available in Greenville and Sumter with the launching of satellite Clemson campuses.

• Thirty-six per cent of all degrees conferred by the University, or 8,020, were awarded.

As the State's leading institution in agricultural teaching, research, and extension services, Clemson has made important contributions to the technological revolution in modern agriculture. The Livestock-Poultry Health Department continued as an effective weapon in control and eradication of animal disease. The 1967 South Carolina Meat and Meat Food Regulations and Inspection Law was given to this department to administer. Two years later, the Poultry Inspection Law was enacted and incorporated with meat inspection to form the Meat and Poultry Inspection Service of the University.

 Concern over the quality of man's environment became one of the great national issues. Clemson, which had already been involved in pollution control work for many years, made a commitment to be at the forefront in the national thrust to solve the problems of controlling and protecting the environment.

As the University moves farther into its fourth quarter-century, the tremendous accomplishments of the past will serve as fitting prologue foreshadowing greater and even more significant events for the future.

Clemson today faces the challenge of tomorrow with relevant educational programs focusing on conditions of our time and of times to come.

Merging a broad range of specialized talents into an interdisciplinary approach, the University is channeling student interest and eagerness to solve contemporary problems into realistic, constructive academic and research programs.

 No one is better informed about or more concerned with Clemson's future than President Edwards. He is extremely conscious of the University's many responsibilities in living up to the accomplishments of its past; in maintaining the progress and achievements of the present; and in realizing the challenges and obstacles which lie ahead in the years to come.

"The potentials which the future holds for us are great beyond all expectation," Dr. Edwards says. "Through education, the

Dr. impossible of today will be the commonplace of tomorrow. There is one thing we know — there is no status quo in the world today. We live in the midst of a tremendous technological and information explosion. This is why it is most imperative that the spirit of progress indicative of Clemson University, past and present, must and shall continue in the Clemson University of the future."

BILL McLELLAN Athletic Director

Bill McLellan came up through the ranks in the athletic department. He literally became a jack of all trades, wearing six hats at a time — more if necessary. But his untiring efforts and his ability to grasp any situation paid off for him this past February.

It was then he was named athletic director, succeeding Frank Howard, which would have scared the pants off most people. But Howard himself had said before, "Bill's been doing all the work, so he ought to have the title."

McLellan came to the athletic department in May, 1958, and the personnel office listed him as assistant business manager.

But he handled the tickets, saw that the grass was cut, replaced light bulbs, purchased equipment and when normal working hours were over for most of the university, he was on the football field coaching. During the days of the intricate substitution, McLellan was the sideline bookkeeper for Howard.

Those who are close to McLellan marvel at his boundless energy. But seldom does he waste a minute. He can handle three or four people in his office at one time, all carrying on a different conversation . . . and all leaving with an answer.

Such is the legacy of Bill McLellan, the AD.

Joined athletic staff May 1, 1958, from Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification at Clemson. Responsibilities: Is in charge of the entire operation of the Clemson intercollegiate athletic program. Background: Received graduate research assistantship while working on MS degree. Served as assistant agronomist 1 year, as assistant economist for 2 years. Was assistant business manager of athletics from 1958-66. Still found time to assist with coaching during this time. Was appointed assistant athletic director in 1966 and was named athletic director Feb. 4, 1971. 1971 will be 13th year on Clemson staff.

Personal Information: Born — Hamer, S. C., May 26, 1932. High School — graduated Dillon (S. C.) High School, lettered 3 years in football, 2 in baseball. College — Clemson, graduated with BS degree in agronomy in 1954, received masters degree from Clemson in agricultural economics in 1956, lettered 2 years in football. Married — Ann Rogers of Fork, S. Bowl Game Participation: 4 - 1 as a player with Clemson (1952 Gator); 3 as an assistant coach with Clemson (1957 Orange, 1959 Sugar, 1959 Bluebonnet).

HOOTIE INGRAM Head Football Coach

The final won-lost record of Clemson last season was more disappointing to Hootie Ingram than anyone else. He came here with visions of giving the Clemson followers a winning brand of football.

And although it didn't happen in his first try, Ingram believes that a good foundation was laid and the dividends should begin showing up this season.

Assembling coaches from all directions and blending them with players using a new system was a complete new world for all concerned. A chorus doesn't sing a song perfect through the first time. But the second time around there's usually improvement.

And Ingram believes that will be true of his football team this fall. He stood 10 years on the sidelines as an assistant coach, carefully watching the moves of his head coach.

Some talent and leadership, along with a little luck, go into the making of a good football team. Ingram believes there'll be more talent on his second Clemson team and leadership where it counts. No one has control of luck, but Ingram hopes Clemson has its share.

If toil and sweat on the practice field are any criteria, Ingram should see better results each Saturday afternoon this fall.

FRANK HOWARD Assistant To The Vice President of Student Affairs

In the past two years, Frank Howard has dropped two titles and picked up another one. Following the 1969 season Howard relinquished his post of head coach to Hootie Ingram, keeping the athletic director's position. This past February Howard was named assistant to the vice president of student affairs when Bill McLellan was named athletic director.

But instead of being tied down to an endless task of paper work as his present title might indicate, Howard has turned his fulltime in a public relations role, making more speeches and appearances than he ever dreamed possible. His travels now carry him out more often and to many distant places. He has just completed a year where he served as chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund when he was constantly making personal appearances for this worthy cause.

During his active coaching days, Howard was one of the most successful in business. He carried Clemson to six post-season bowl games while he was head coach which was nothing new to the 62-year-old veteran. He played in the 1931 Rose Bowl with Alabama and was an assistant coach when Clemson went to the 1940 Cotton Bowl.

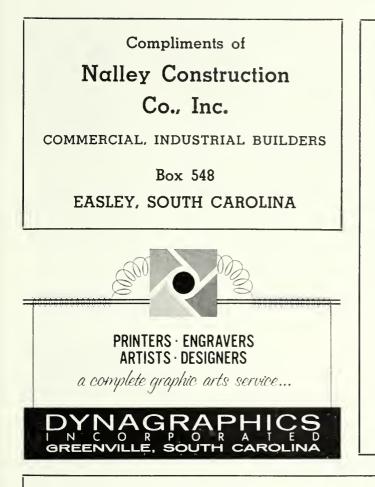

When Howard retired after the 1969 season he had the longest tenure in the nation and all of his head coaching was at one school. He posted 165 victories, which ranked 19th among all coaches, active or retired. Howard became a task master of hard nosed football. His players knew it as did his opponents. No one did more for football in South Carolina than Howard and few in the nation carried a better reputation.

Joined Clemson staff August, 1931, after graduation from college. Served as Clemson line coach nine years. Was Clemson head football coach 30 years, which at time of retirement, was longest tenure in nation. Appointed assistant to the vice president of student affairs Feb. 4, 1971.

Responsibilities: Clemson's goodwill ambassador. Makes a number of fund raising appearances in Clemson's behalf each year. Still in great demand as after-dinner and quarterback club speaker. 1971 will be 41st year on Clemson staff.

Personal Information: Born — Barlow Bend, Ala., March 25, 1909. High School — Attended Barton Academy, graduated from Murphy High School, Mobile, Ala., lettered 3 years in baseball, 2 in basketball, 2 in football. College Alabama, graduated with BS degree in business administration in 1931, lettered 3 years in football, 3 years in baseball. College fraternity — Omega Delta Kappa. Married — Anna Tribble of Anderson, S. C., Aug. 23, 1933. Children — Mrs. Robert E. McClure (Alice) of Gastonia, N. C.; Jimmy (graduated from Clemson with honors, June, 1964, received master's degree in horticulture from Clemson, May, 1967). Research assistant, Crop Pest Commission, Clemson University. Grandchildren — Robert Howard McClure, Sam Howard McClure.

ACC Comments: How I Started In Athletic Training

MAX CROWDER, Duke: Several years had elapsed fram the time I finished high schoal until I started my callege days. When I enralled at Gardner-Webb Junior College in 1958, I planned to teach and coach. Hawever, the foatball coach at Gardner-Webb was an old friend, and when he learned I was caming to school there, he asked me to be his trainer. He had no trainer at the time and, even thaugh I knew nathing about athletic training, I agreed ta help him and learn as much as I could. As I learned mare about the wark, I became more interested in athletic training. After two years at Gardner-Webb, I transferred ta Duke where I was fortunate enough to get a job as a student-trainer warking under the late Bab Chambers. During my two years at Duke, I cansidered myself very fortunate ta be able ta work with and learn fram such capable peaple as Bab Chambers, Dr. Lenax Baker and Dr. Frank Bassett. Upan graduation in 1962, I was happy with the affer to become a fulltime trainer at Duke. This affarded me the appartunity to remain in athletics and work with young people.

JOHN LACEY, North Carolina: I've always had a great interest in athletics. When I cauld na longer participate as a player, I began ta think af a line af wark which wauld keep me closely invalved in sparts. I didn't particularly want ta be a coach so I chase a career as a trainer. I knew the prafession wauld afford me an appartunity ta travel a great deal and this appealed to me. Alsa it meant I would have a chance to meet athletic officials and members af the medical prafession acrass the cauntry. I'm very happy I chose this field. In same ways, the rewards are small. But when I treat an injured player and see him return to make a cantributian ta the success af aur team, it gives me great satisfactian. I also take pride in the achievements af our athletes after they leove Carolina.

HERMAN BUNCH, N. C. State: Athletics hos long been o cansuming interest far me, beginning with participation in high schoal sports pragrams at the elementary and at the secandary level. Wishing to pursue this interest in callege, I osked to wark in the training raam at the University of Narth Caralina. The twa very fine trainers there, Fitz Lutz and R. A. "Dac" White, gave me excellent instruction and experience. Their encouragement was a majar factar in my decisian to continue wark with the conditianing and treatment of athletes. Even thaugh far several years my wark was outside the field of athletics I remained invalved by valunteer work with high schaal athletic teams in training. In warking with young peaple in athletics I find much personal satisfaction, lasting and invaluable friendships, and o great challenge.

FRED HOOVER, Clemson: I became interested in athletic training because of a lang-time desire ta wark with athletics. When I started ta callege I wanted ta become a caach, but because af my size and ability I could nat participate in callege football. So the next best way ta learn coaching pracedures and techniques was to became a manager ar student trainer. I became a student trainer at Florida State University and the more I was expased to the training professian the more interested I became in it as a career. At this time the training profession was being upgraded and I could see many opportunities in a fast grawing career field. It is a mast rewarding profession because af the appartunities af warking with yaung men and seeing them avercame the prablems, injuries, jays af winning, sarraw af losing and everything else that is part of the game.

BILL (SPIDER) FRY, Maryland: I began my career in athletic training as a result af an injury sustained while playing varsity saccer at Maryland in 1946. I was treated far several weeks by the late Duke Wyre, then the head trainer at Maryland. The injury finished my playing career, but I still wanted to be a part of athletics so I applied far a pasitian as a student trainer I received instructian in the art af taping, the treatment af and, mast impartant, the prevention af athletic injuries. In the fall af 1947 Duke Wyre gave me my first assignment as a student trainer and manager of the varsity soccer team. I later served as assistant trainer at Maryland befare becoming head trainer at Dartmauth Callege far five years. Since returning ta Maryland as head trainer I now teach a course, "Advanced Training and Canditianing" which is available far bath men and wamen and I feel is most beneficial to thase aspiring ta became trainers or coaches.

JOE GIECK, Virginia: Athletics has always been one of the mast impartant aspects af American life. Athletic training offered me o chance ta be a part of this life. It has been o greot privilege for me to work with many af the fine athletes, coaches and peaple in the world. As a physical therapist, athletic training is mast satisfying to me in that athletes have an amazing recuperative pawer in comparison with the general papulatian because af a tremendaus desire ta excel. I started athletic training, warking with the prevention treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries as a juniar high schaal student as a hobby. It is still as enjoyable naw, if nat more so, as it was then. To work with the yauth of America has kept me young.

LEWIS (DOC) MARTIN, Wake Forest — Perhaps the one person most instrumental in me starting my career as an athletic trainer was Henry L. Langstan, my junior and seniar high schaal caach. He realized the value af a trainer ta an athletic team even on the junior and seniar high level and encauraged me to enter the field. It was during my juniar high schaol days in Atlanta, Ga., and under the directian af Coach Langstan, that I started in the athletic training prafessian. Follawing graduation from high schoal, I received a schalarship ta the University of Geargia and served as student trainer there far three years. It was here that I decided an a career in athletic training. My thanks ga ta in what I cansider a mast satisfying and rewarding profession.

Cover Story

18 Seniors In Last Home Game

For three varsity seasons, 18 young men have been performing for the Clemson Tigers on the gridiron. Today, these individuals will don the orange and white for the last time in Memorial Stadium. They represent the seniors on the 1971 football team.

Head coach Hootie Ingram will have to find replacements for nine offensive players and a like number on defense.

Defensively, the Tigers lose Dale Henry, Maggie Valley, N. C., and Lee Haddock, Atlanta, Ga., in the secondary. Henry has been a thorn in the side of many a receiver while Haddock was serving as captain of the kickoff team until a knee injury sidelined him in mid-season.

Four individuals who are, or have been, starters depart from the front line. Ends Wayne Baker, Oakland, N. J., and Charlie Mayer, Little Mountain, have kept many running backs from turning the corner while tackles Ralph Daniel, Lavonia, Ga., and Don Ethredge, Charleston, together provide almost 500 pounds of muscle to combat hard-charging fullbacks.

Larry Hefner, who has twice been named Atlantic Coast Conference defensive player-of-the week this season, is a Charlotte, N. C., native who will be hard to replace at middle linebacker.

Mac Wilson, Atlanta, Ga., and Dick Bukowsky, Baltimore, Md., are two other losses. Wilson is the Tigers' kickoff man while Bukowsky was switched to linebacker this season following two years as a fullback.

Quarterback Tommy Kendrick, Stone Mountain, Ga., will be calling signals his last time in "Death Valley" for the Tiger offense. Kendrick, who already holds nearly every school career passing mark, has directed the attack since his sophomore year.

Ingram also loses three fine receivers in John McMakin, Tucker, Ga., Don Kelley, Greenville, and Pete Galuska, Rochester, Minn.

McMakin has been labeled "one of the top receivers in the southeast" while Kelley made a name for himself as an all-conference defensive back and punt returner for the Tigs before his move to flanker prior to this season. And who could ever forget Galuska's circus catch for a touchdown against The Citadel in 1970.

Rick Gilstrap, Easley, found a home at tailback after playing both at that position and at quarterback in his first two years and he is currenly leading the team in rushing.

But without the interior line, Kendrick would have been unable to put the ball in the air and Gilstrap would have been less fortunate carrying the pigskin.

Centers Dave Farnham, Travelers Rest, and Earl Gilstrap, Easley, will be hard to replace. Farnham has been starting for Clemson for two years while Gilstrap, brother of Rick, is backup man and is on both the kicking and receiving units.

And tackle Jim Dorn, Charleston, and guard Steve Lewter, Clarkston, Ga., have opened many a hole in the opponent defensive line. Dorn, called "JD" by his teammates, is usually one of the first men downfield following a Tiger punt while Lewter is called "Puma" for his quickness.

In addition to the 18 players, student trainer Steve Moss, Blacksburg, will be taping his last ankle in Memorial Stadium and student manager Hamp McManus, Chester, will no longer place the footballs on the turf in the "Valley."

"This entire group of seniors on the 1971 team has contributed greatly to our program in many different ways," Ingram remarked. "I think what makes this group so special is the way they picked up our program when we really needed the leadership.

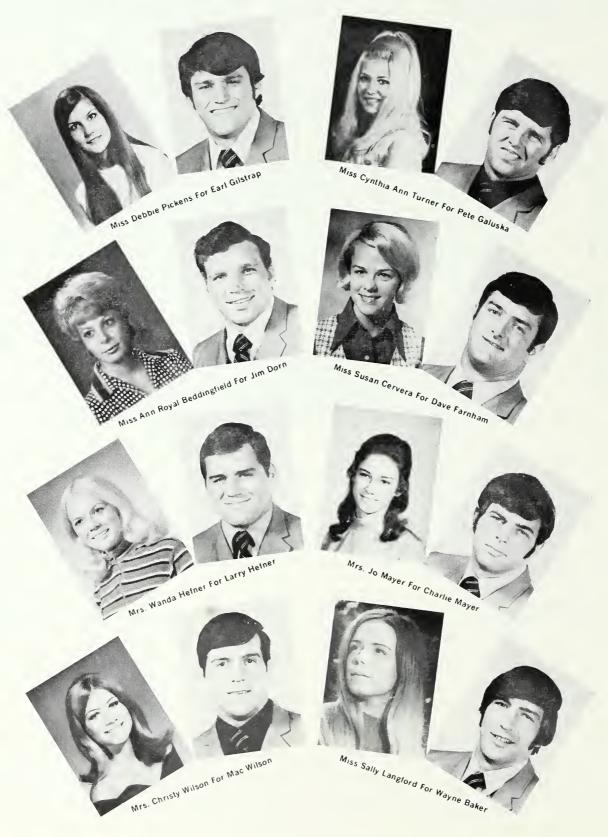

"These men were underclassmen on my first Clemson team," he added, "and they took over this year and set an example of what we expect from our seniors in the future."

When the season concludes, these seniors will continue with their leadership abilities within many university organizations and activities on campus.

And following graduation, some will teach, some will coach. Others will go to graduate school. Some will even play pro football.

But no matter what they do or where they go, they will always continue to be Clemson gentlemen — a characteristic they've possessed since first becoming a Tiger.

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Our Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe at Portland Head Light, M

Chevelle for 1972. It fits more families, more budgets, more garages and more vacation

It fits so well that in the last eight years it has become an American standard—a yardstick to measure how far your money can go. And how much comfort and room your money can buy.

Our Chevelle fits families so well, in size and price, it's become America's favorite mid-size car. This year we've added improved pollution controls and a long lasting generator, among other things. Improvements with a purpose. We want your 1972 Chevelle to be the best car you ever owned. It's our way of building a better way to see the U.S.A.

The Spirit of Thanksgiving Past

By Ross Cornwell, Clemson University News Bureau

"Thanksgiving, the sole break in the sea of monotony from September to Christmas, is here again," wrote an editorialist in Clemson University's student newspape⁷, The Tiger, back in 1907.

"Be thankful," he exhorted the cadets, "for the opportunity of attending college; for your health and vigor; in advance, for the victory over (Georgia) Tech; and last of all, let us be thankful on this day that oysters replace bull in the mess hall."

Thanksgiving throughout Clemson's history has had a way of reflecting the spirit of the age. The cadets were not allowed to go home for Thanksgiving holidays in 1903, according to a Columbia State correspondent,

"because it breaks into the college work seriously to have so many away for two or three days."

The students, however, did enjoy boxes of food prepared and packed with care by loving mothers. They also munched several bushels of juicy apples, a debt collected from the University of Georgia football team in one of the South's most memorable sports stories.

Clemson had beaten Georgia by 29 points in mid-November, and the Bulldogs, thirsting for some sort of revenge, offered the Tigers a bushel of apples for every point over 29 Clemson put on the scoreboard against archrival Georgia Tech the following weekend.

Why apples? A newspaper reporter wrote that Georgia was ready to promise the Clemson players almost anything, "but the Clemson team esteemed apples most."

"Eating apples is said to be the crowning dissipation of the Clemson student body," he noted. "The town itself has not yet been incorporated on the map and such vicious habits as the demon rum, ping-pong and other forms of vice known to a large city are unknown."

The Tigers walloped Tech 73-0 and soon 44 bushels of choice Georgia apples were enroute to Clemson.

Thanksgiving and gridiron spirit have gone hand in hand at Clemson since the school's first game played in 1896, a 14-6 triumph over nearby rival Furman University, for many years Clemson's traditional Thanksgiving opponent. "Well, it's here! And how? That long awaited for day is tomorrow, Turkey Day. Never has the old Tiger spirit seemed more enthusiastic. Never have the Tigers been more determined to do anything they can to beat Furman," warned a Nov. 23 Tiger in the early 1900's.

Those were the days when players were short on equipment and long of hair, wearing laced leather jackets, shinguards and no headgear—men like Ed J. "Beef" DeCosta, J. F. "Man Mountain" Fleming (190 lbs.), J. G. "Little 'un" Barnwell (200 lbs.), and J. A. "Pee Wee" Forsythe, who played every minute of every game during his three years under renowned Coach John Heisman.

From the weekend electronic rock concerts of 1971 back to the 1907 Thanksgiving dance, music has been an important part of Clemson's Thanksgiving season. The Tiger in November 1907 reported, "The cadet orchestra struck up an inspiring waltz which lifted the dancers

The Tiger in November 1907 reported, "The cadet orchestra struck up an inspiring waltz which lifted the dancers off their feet and sent them whirling across the floor with an ease which induced partial unconsciousness," a dance floor condition not uncommon today after contortion exercises like the "Funky Chicken" or the "Bugaloo." The student Arthur Murrays were still whirling along in November 1925 to the smash single "When Banana Peels Start Blooming I'll Come Sliding Home To You," and in 1938 when "350 couples danced to the snappy swinging of Clemson's red-hot Jungaleers."

Possibly the most sumptuous Thanksgiving meal ever served at Clemson came in 1936, ironically, in the midst of the Depression, as noted in the Dec. 3 Tiger.

The Cadet Corps "did devour at one sitting, 1,600 packages of dates, 21 flats of grapes, 11 crates of oranges, 16 boxes of apples, one-half barrel of cranberries, 1,600 cakes, 200 pounds of rice, 500 pounds of sweet potatoes, 400 pounds of Brazil nuts and walnuts," not to mention 2,100 pounds of turkey, and probably a partridge in a pear tree.

American history has left its mark on many Clemson Thanksgivings. One intriguing historical footnote is found in the 1937 Thanksgiving issue of The Tiger in a story headlined "Hitler Guards Chase Clemson Color Guard For Not Saluting Shrine."

It seemed Cadet Fred Calhoun, vacationing in Munich, Germany, neglected to give the required Nazi salute when passing the Brown House, beer garden scene of Hitler's first unsuccessful grasp at control of the German government. German guards gave hot pursuit, "shook their fists at Fred and began screaming out a series of insults surpassed only by Hitler's opinion of Russia. But Calhoun's a star half miler on the Clemson track team, and no Hitler cohort could catch him."

Nazism would soon cast a dreadful shadow across the Atlantic and over the Clemson campus. A Tiger columnist in 1943 wrote, "Another thing that struck us as we stood before the Thanksgiving meal was the thought that out yonder some Clemson man had a mouthful of field ration "K" for Thanksgiving dinner.

"These petty little things such as rationing, shortages and uncertainty are such trivial matters compared to the sacrifices others are making," he noted.

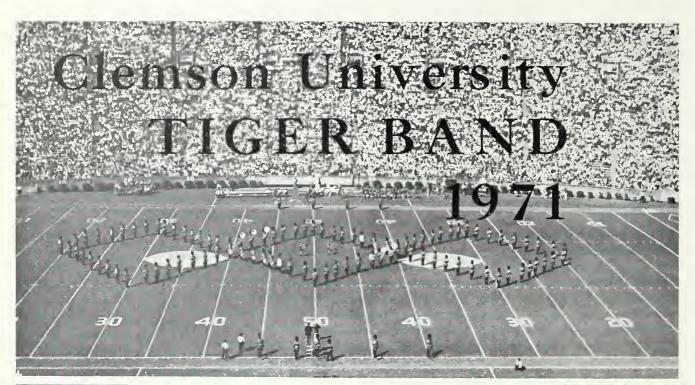

Those sacrifices were great. "Third Annual Memorial Service To Be Held Dec. 7 To Honor Clemson Men" headlined the Nov. 24, 1944, Tiger. There were then 5,127 Clemson men in uniform, 177 killed, 31 missing, 43 in concentration camps.

Clemson Thanksgiving moods have reflected times of war and times of peace, times of light-hearted revelry and times of solemn reflection.

No matter the conditions, however, the nostalgic homeward-yearning vision of Thanksgiving conjured up by most college students from family and friends has remained largely unchanged. "Thanksgiving is one of our best holidays. The first frost is still in the air and making the blood tingle.

The farmer has his corn in his crib, his pumpkins into pies, and his turkeys well roasted and stuffed with dressing." The writer, a Tiger reporter in 1911, was speaking directly to his contemporaries.

At the same time, perhaps unknowingly, he captured one of America's most enduring holiday emotions.

THE N. C. STATE SERIES . . .

N. C. State is the only Atlantic Coast Conference team that Clemson coach Hootie Ingram has not tangled horns with as yet, but his first opportunity comes this afternoon, which is the wind up game for the Wolfpack of the 1971 season. The Tigers have their finale left next week against South Carolina.

The void between Ingram and the 'Pack is the fact that N. C. State has been off the Clemson schedule for the past two seasons.

Actually, this is one of the oldest rivalries on the Clemson schedule. It has been going on since 1899, three years after the Tigers put a team on the field.

Although Clemson leads in the series with 28 victories, 10 losses and a tie, there have been some mighty close games down through the years. In fact, of the 39 games played so far, 17 have ended with a touchdown or less separating the two teams.

One of these came in the last meeting in 1968, a game which was played in Raleigh with a regional television audience. The Tigers won, 24-19, but it ended in dramatic fashion. After being tied 7-7 at the end of the first period and Clemson leading 14-10 at the half and 17-10 after three quarters, things really began to pop in the final 15 minutes.

The 'Pack pulled two points closer with 4:02 left in the game when Billy Ammons was caught for a safety in the end zone; and after the free kick, it took State only three plays to score the go-ahead touchdown and there was only 2:26 left on the clock.

Starting from their 31, the Tigers moved quickly. Ammons passed to Jack Anderson for 20 and then for 12 to move to the State 37. After a blocked pass, Charlie Waters made a fantastic catch at the State 12.

From there on in, the ball belonged to Ray Yauger, and it took him three plays to score. The touchdown run was seven yards. Only 53 seconds showed on the clock. State ran four plays and Clemson took over again with 19 seconds left, ran one play and walked off a 24-19 victor.

Although the Tigers own a 6-3 mark over the 'Pack in Death Valley, very few games have been easy for Clemson at home, away or on a neutral site against N. C. State. And the same pattern can be expected today.

My, how the old neighborhood has changed.

Three hundred years ago, the Keowee Valley was a great Cherokee trading center. And you should see it now. Now, it's the site of our Keowee-Toxaway Visitors Center.

Where you can see first hand huge nuclear reactors taking shape outside. Where you can learn the secrets of the atom. Where you can visit the past, the present, the future of power and get the answers to all those questions you've always wanted to ask. It's an exciting, awardwinning exhibition with spectacular demonstrations you can operate yourself. And dramatic display chambers filled with sight and sound. All at no charge. It's located near the intersection of SC 183 and SC 130, north of Clemson, S. C. A short hop from I-85, US-123, US-25, or US-64. And you're welcome anytime from 10 to 5 weekdays, 1 to 6 on Sundays, holidays included. For an illustrated booklet, contact any Duke Power office or write the Visitors Center, P. O. Box 308, Clemson, S. C. 29631.

CONTRIBUTIONS INCREASE

The 37th IPTAY year closed this past August 31st, and for the seventh consecutive year, the club noted an increase in contributions.

The total amount given during the fiscal year of IPTAY amounted to over $376,000. The goal set for the next 12 months is $500,000.

IPTAY, which stands for I Pay Twenty A Year, is Clemson's scholarship club and it is solely through these means that the Tigers are able to maintain a healthy athletic program in 11 intercollegiate sports.

Thousands of student-athletes have received an education through IPTAY, many of whom could not have attended college except through these means. And with the rising costs in the field of education each year, the need for additional memberships increases each year.

During the past year there were 6,658 regular $20 memberships, there were 1,621 $100 Gold Card members, 139 members who gave $250, 45 $500 Gold Carders, 18 $1,000 donors and three $2,000 members, who are known as IPTAY Scholarship Donors. This totals 8,484 of all memberships and represents 94 per cent of the goal set.

IPTAY was started — and still functions — with one purpose in mind, that is, to finance athletic scholarships at Clemson. Not one single penny contributed during the past 37 years has been used for any other purpose. All contributions are tax deductible.

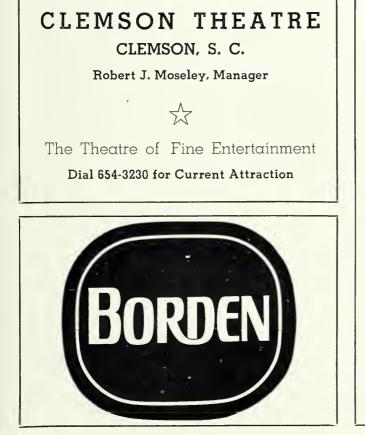

From the records available, there were 185 people who were members of IPTAY during that first year of 1934-35. Over a third of these are now deceased, but better than 60 per cent of those still living are members today and over a fifth of them are Gold Card members.

The late Dr. Rupert H. (Rube) Fike was the father of IPTAY. It was his idea that something should be done to support athletics at Clemson. His thought was being churned around when the Tigers were at one of their lowest depths of football. The team had won only seven games, while losing 17 and tieing five in three years.

The idea of the seven people who started IPTAY was to get 100 more members. They never dreamed IPTAY would become one of the foremost scholarship organizations in America.

Tiger athletic teams have won numerous conference championships, not to mention many individual honors.

IPTAY is another way to spell Clemson athletics.

1971 - 72 BASKETBALL OUTLOOK

Taylor (Tates) Locke Head Basketball Coach

Bill Clendinen Assistant Basketball Coach

George Hill Assistant Basketball Coach

Cliff Malpass Assistant Basketball Coach

Tates Locke enters his second season as head coach of the Clemson basketball team and his optimistic vein is running warmer than a year ago.

Not only does Locke have five returnees from last year's 9-17 team, but he has brought in three junior college transfers, has four players advancing from the freshman team, two of whom averaged 46.7 points between them, plus a red shirt sophomore.

Dave Angel, who stands 6-11, led the team in scoring and rebounding as a sophomore in the last campaign, and he is joined by another starter, Bud Martin. Other juniors back are Joe Cooley, Craig Mobley and John Williams. Bo Hawkins is the lone senior.

Locke plans to blend his four rising sophomores — Gale Housley, Dennis Odle, Terrell Suit and Mitch Uzzle with these upperclassmen and JUCO's Anthony Brown, Mel Francisco and Danny Miller and holdout Mike Browning.

Brown led nearby Anderson Junior College in scoring with a 20.6 mark, Francisco averaged 15.4 points and 16 rebounds for Brevard JC in Cocoa, Fla., and Miller was the leading scorer for Ranger (Tex.) JC.

Locke has signed what some call "the best group of basketball recruits in Clemson history" and he also has Marty Paterson, a 6-9 transfer from The Citadel, sitting out this season with three years of eligibility remaining.

Photographers covering Clemson's home games have some of the finest facilities to be found anywhere, in addition to a home crew of photographers who are ready to assist in any way possible.

Cameramen look for ideal working conditions, ample working room and an atmosphere conducive to their needs. All of these can be found in the Clemson press box.

Movie crews filming the game for Clemson and the visiting team have a 27-foot open section right in the middle of the second deck of the press box which will easily accommodate six movie tripods.

One flight up is a 35-yard long "front row" for still cameras and those filming for TV. No one is too far off the 50-yard line with a good angle afforded everyone who shoots from the top deck.

Photographers, as well as sportswriters covering Clemson's home games, have become accustomed to the third floor of the press box. Behind the row of cameras is the famous buffet served for those covering the game where the finest of food is enjoyed picnic style from the "Top of the Valley."

This year facilities for the latest thing in filing press copy are being installed. Many sportswriters now use a telecopier where copy is fed into a machine from the press box and it comes out at the specified newspaper, ready for the composing room.

Chief photographer Charles Haralson and his assistants, Tom Shockley, Hal Smith and Dave Garrison, are on hand for two reasons: to shoot game films for the athletic staff; and to assist visiting photographers covering the game should an emergency arise.

Harry Durham and Jim Burns head up the Clemson Communications Center and devote their time seeing that all runs well, and at the same time, always willing to lend a helping hand.

Game action is shot during the first half of each home game by a staff photographer and a set of pictures (five or six prints) is furnished to any news media requesting this service before the end of the game.

This rapid service is done through a Fotorite machine, a rapid print processing, and is the only one in use in the Atlantic Coast Conference and one of the few in the nation used as such.

During the past nine seasons approximately 3,700 photos have been given free to the press by this process, thanks to the closely-knit and cooperative crew of the Communications Center.

Radio Adds Frosh Games...

Clemson football games can be heard in every corner of South Carolina, and in many fringe areas of Georgia and North Carolina. And this is the way it should be. The Tigers have more fans than anyone in the state and the Clemson Football Network tries to reach all of those unable to come to the game.

The network enters its 18th year in 1971, with Jim Phillips, sports director of WFBC-TV in Greenville, again handling the play-by-play for the third straight year.

Jeff Odenwald, general manager of the Greenwood Braves of the Western Carolinas League, who has had seven years of broadcast experience, will handle the color for the first time.

To assure the best possible professional broadcast, Jim Lynn of the WFBC engineering staff, will serve as producer-director of the broadcast.

The network is being expanded this season to include the three freshman home games. All of these games are to be played Monday afternoon instead of Friday and will not interfere with any high school games.

For the second straight year there will be a pre-game as well as a post-game show by Clemson head coach, Hootie Ingram.

The network will sign on 20 minutes before kickoff and stay on the air 10 minutes following the wrap-up period when Phillips and Ingram will comment on what to expect in the game, then just a few minutes away; as well as presenting quick observations on the game just completed.

Phillips has had 18 years of broadcasting experience. He came from his native Ohio where he was affiliated at various times with stations in Alliance, Ashland and Lima. Before coming with the Clemson network, Phillips did the play-by-play for the Kent State University Network.

Odenwald, also a native of Ohio, graduated from Ohio State in 1969. While in college he worked four and a half years with WBNS-TV in Columbus, going from the floor crew to the production staff and covered all facets of television production. He also worked with the Ohio State closed circuit TV network as producer-director.

Since going to Greenwood in Sept., 1969, Odenwald has done a daily 15-minute sports show on Station WG-SW and last winter did commentary for all 30 Lander College basketball games over Greenwood's channel 2.

Because of one night game last fall the Clemson Network averaged 55 stations a game, but should return to about a 58-59 average this fall, making it one of the nation's largest university-operated networks.

-Special Recognition-

Several thousand former Clemson studentathletes, as well as several hundred currently enrolled at the university, depend solely on contributions from individuals and firms for their education. This is administered through the Clemson IPTAY Club, which since 1934, has used the monies received for athletic scholarships only. Clemson has set an outstanding example for other educational institutions throughout the nation with its IPTAY program. Clemson athletics would be nowhere near the high plateau it maintains today without these individuals and firms who believe in the Clemson program and contribute to its success. It is with pleasure, and with their permission, that we pay tribute to those so vitally interested in the Clemson athletic program.

Letterman's Association . . .

The Association of Tiger Lettermen of Clemson University was organized this past summer by former students and athletes who are interested in promoting the continuing athletic excellence of Clemson, as well as affording the opportunity for fellowship among active members, honorary members, student athletes and members of the university's athletic department.

Charlie Bussey, a quarterback on the 1954-55-56 teams, the latter of which played in the 1957 Orange Bowl, was elected the association's first president.

Doc Morgan was chosen vice president and Gene Willimon was elected secretary-treasurer.

The constitution of the organization stipulates that there shall be 12 directors, with at least six sports represented and no more than three directors from any one sport.

Named to serve on the first board were: Phil Prince, Gil Rushton and Bill Hudson representing football; Ames Wells and Banks McFadden representing basketball; Harold Stowe, Doug Kingsmore and Jim Coleman,

There will be a drop-in for members on the third floor of Fike Field House, at 11 a.m. on the day of each home football game.

representing baseball; Jimmy Wells and Marshall Walker representing track; Bill Yarborough representing golf; and George Bennett representing cheerleaders.

There are two classes of membership in the association. Active membership is open to any former student of Clemson who received a letter from the athletic department in any sport; and a person shall be eligible for an honorary membership upon the recommendation of three fourths of the board of directors and upon subsequent approval by a majority in attendance at any associational meeting.

Coach Frank Howard, former athletic director and head football coach at Clemson, is the first and only honorary member of the association thus far.

After several preliminary meetings an organizational meeting was held at Clemson June 25th at which time officers were elected and a constitution adopted. All former students awarded a letter by the Athletic Department are invited to become a member by completing the blank below and mailing as shown.
